Grandparents and grandchildren - an unbeatable creative team!

A book full of ideas and for the generations to get together.

When parents become grandparents, a time of "extra joys" begins: the responsibility of bringing up children becomes smaller, the serenity all the greater! "Becoming a grandmother was a whole new feeling of happiness for me," writes Christel Dhom, who can look back on a lot of experience in dealing with children as a mother of two, educator and support teacher. From her rich treasure trove of creative ideas and delicious recipes, she has put together a diverse collection for grandparents - and all those who want to become grandparents - for spending time with their grandchildren.

Christel Dhom, born in 1960, is a trained educator, Waldorf kindergarten teacher and remedial teacher. Initially she worked as a kindergarten teacher.

For many years she has worked as a needlework and remedial teacher at a Waldorf school.

She also gives workshops and is a lecturer at teacher and educator training congresses.

Another passion is her garden, which has already won prizes, and dancing.
