The adventurous story of a turning point in life for two: a boy and an old man.

Robin is often involved in fights, skips school and steals at the supermarket. Robin's "profile" reveals his problems at home. And these are supposed to go away when a dog now comes to visit him regularly? In the beginning, Robin is just as suspicious of the dog named Bellcanto as the old biologist Mr Heyse is of people. - A sensitively told story full of mystery and excitement about amazing encounters, growing trust and the joy of life that a dog gives.

Christa Ludwig, born in 1949 in Wolfhagen near Kassel, studied German and English language and literature. She has loved books at least since she was able to read, and she began writing herself at an early age. Since 1989 she has published books for children and young people.
